TEN PAGES—FIVE CENTS

Attempt To Cap Air Shaft In Coal Mine Where 15 Men Are Entombed

FARMINGTON, W. Va. (P)—Workmen labored with a huge crane late Monday to complete capping a ventilating shaft blown open by two new explosions in a coal mine where 15 men were entombed.

The Jamison Coal Co. No. 9 mine had been sealed off last night after a violent explosion and fire Saturday trapped the 15 men deep underground and killed a 16th man on the surface. It was West Virginia's worst mine tragedy in 10 years.

Monday, two minor blasts boomed inside the diggings, pushing aside the huge steel plate on the air shaft as well as one on the main shaft of the slope mine located in a valley of north-central West Virginia.

Ike Asks Senate Ratify European Defense Treaties

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower Monday called on the Senate to ratify the treaty binding a sovereign Germany closer to Western defense as a boon to "peace and freedom in the world as a whole."

The President sent to Capitol Hill, for action by the Senate next January, a stack of agreements resulting from the nine-power conference and the North Atlantic Treaty session in London and Paris this fall. He asked the Senate to study them carefully and ratify them at the regular session.

His letter of transmittal appeared aimed not only at quieting any qualms the Senate might have about the pact but also to do away with misgivings voiced abroad by Germany, France, and even Russia.

To the Germans, Eisenhower seemed to be saying the agreement would guarantee their freedom and equality. To the French, he pledged tight reins on German rearmament. To the Russians, jockeying to upset this move by proposing further talks, Eisenhower said they need fear no attack from such a purely defensive arrangement.

The Russians, still battling against German integration with the West, proposed over the weekend a 25-power conference be held Nov. 29.

The Soviets proposed last Oct. 23 a Big Four conference.

Both suggestions, informally brushed off by Western diplomats as dodges to block German independence and integration with the West, are being formally considered by U. S.-British-French committee working at London and Paris on a joint reply.

Eden Urges West Ignore Soviet Request For Meet

LONDON (P)—Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden urged the West Monday to ignore Russian overtures for a European security conference until after a rearmament West Germany takes her place in the Western defense lineup.

After that diplomatic goal has been reached, Eden told the House of Commons, the situation of the Western Powers "would not exclude the possibility of further discussions" with Russia.

The foreign secretary said the West must not be thrown off its course toward ratification of the Paris accords by Moscow's proposal Saturday for a 24-nation conference Nov. 29 in Moscow or Paris on "the creation of a system of collective security in Europe." Clement Attlee, leader of the Laborite opposition, agreed that ratification should go forward.

'Understanding' Between Germany, France; Gruenther

OSLO, Norway (P)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, said Monday night he had noted a "growing understanding" between France and Germany that "is even more important than the military significance of German participation in NATO."

Gruenther addressed a meeting of the Military Assn., attended by King Haakon VII, Crown Prince Olav, and other Norwegian and foreign officers.

"Naturally," said the general, "there exists much bitterness in nations formerly occupied and suppressed by the Nazi armies."

But we must all work toward a new spirit of understanding and cooperation, by which the entire West may be integrated into a firm and solid unity."

Lionel Barrymore, Stage, Screen, Radio Actor, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Lionel Barrymore, veteran stage, screen and radio actor, died Monday night after a long illness. Death apparently was due to a heart attack.

He was taken to Valley Hospital in the San Fernando Valley Sunday night and shortly afterward lapsed into a coma.

Barrymore, 76, was prominent in the "Dr. Kildare" radio and movie series. His was an almost limitless talent. He was an exceptionally talented painter and musician, and possessed of a rich, deep-pitched voice.

Dr. John Paul Ewing, his physician, said Barrymore died of a complication of ailments, including arthritis. The immediate cause, said the doctor, was heart congestion.

Son of the celebrated theatrical team of Maurice and Georgia Drew Barrymore, Lionel was born in Philadelphia. Brother of the great John and of the famous Ethel, the shaggy-browed veteran made his stage debut at the age of five.

He was educated in New York and by private tutor, and attended Seaton Hall, at Orange, N. J., where he came to know Thomas A. Edison. As a youth he appeared on the stage with his grandmother, Louisa Drew, but quit to study art in Paris. Returning, he was an illustrator for a year, then joined his brother, John, in "Peter Ibbetson."

Expect Retaliation Against Reds For Sinking Warship

TAIPEH, Formosa (Tuesday) (P)—An intensified vest pocket war Tuesday seemed likely as the Nationalists pledged the "severest blows possible" for the sinking of a destroyer escort by Red torpedo boats.

The pledge was made in the Defense Ministry's communiqué. It confirmed that 28 of the 180 officers and men of the 1,600-ton Taipei perished Sunday in the engagement off the Tachien Islands, 215 miles north of Formosa.

Nationalist warplanes flew over while rescue ships picked up survivors, but no Chinese Communist planes tried to interfere. Of those rescued, 28 were wounded, nine seriously.

High level Nationalist officials conferred for hours Monday and there was speculation that the Nationalists would launch a massive retaliation attack.

The Defense Ministry's communiqué gave an official account of the sea battle. This was the Reds' first naval triumph in the coastal war. They thus stripped from the thin Nationalist Navy one of the warships turned over to Chiang Kai-shek by the United States.

The Taiping, formerly the USS Decker, was on defense patrol north of the Tachien early Sunday, the communiqué said, when four Red torpedo boats attacked her.

Most of the dead were believed trapped by the rushing waters as the ship began sinking rapidly.

TO INVESTIGATE ELECTION IRREGULARITIES

WASHINGTON (P)—The House Campaign Investigating Committee voted today to investigate complaints of election irregularities in the 3rd Illinois Congressional District.

S. T. Kimmel, head of the committee staff, said the committee, at a meeting behind closed doors, decided to send an investigator to Illinois where James C. Murray, Democrat, defeated Rep. Fred Busbey, Republican.

Kimmel said Busbey had alleged irregularities but would give no details.

Case Reverses Decision On One Censure Charge

One Airman Dies, Three Missing In Plane Crashes

NORFOLK, Va. (P)—Two Navy planes and one Marine plane crashed along the Atlantic Coast Sunday in separate accidents, killing one airman and leaving three others missing and presumed dead. Seven other men were rescued.

A Navy Harpoon patrol bomber, with five men aboard, Sunday night developed engine trouble en route from Miami to Washington, forcing its pilot to ditch the plane in Pamlico Sound, N.C. The plane broke in two and sank in 15 seconds.

Four occupants spent the night on a life raft and were rescued early Monday by a Coast Guard search plane. The fifth man went down with the plane. He was Richard Zigmund Garlinski, seaman apprentice, of Washington, D. C.

A Marine Corps jet fighter based at Cherry Point, N.C., was diverted from a routine flight to search for the Harpoon. The jet radioed at 9 p.m. it had sighted two flames while flying at 300 feet, and was descending to 200 feet to get a better look.

That was the last word from the jet, which had aboard 2nd Lt. Roy Wilkins, 23, of Indio, Calif., and M. Sgt. Gerald A. Moreau, 30, of Havelock, N.C. No trace of them or their plane was found in a daylong search by 75 aircraft and 40 ships.

One of the Navy's newest anti-submarine planes, a S2F, plunged into the ocean at 5 a.m. Sunday moments after it had taken off from the carrier Antietam. The destroyer Putnam picked up the plane's four occupants shortly afterward but one of them, Lt. Cmdr. Willard A. Pollard of Virginia Beach, Va., died aboard the Putnam soon after his rescue.

Two Youths Plead Guilty To Killing Man In Holdup

BELLEVIEW, Ill. (P)—Two youths, charged with killing a customer in a tavern holdup, pleaded guilty Monday and were sentenced to life imprisonment by Circuit Judge Quinten Spivey.

Edward A. Anderson, 18, and Robert C. Soldier, 17, both of East St. Louis, entered their guilty plea while a jury was being selected to try the murder case.

They were accused of shooting to death George W. Cain, a railroad switchman, when he resisted their holdup efforts in an East St. Louis tavern Aug. 6. They obtained $77 in the robbery, police said.

The prosecution had asked a 99-year sentence for the youths, under which they would have had to serve 33 years before becoming eligible for a parole. Under the life sentence in Illinois they must serve 20 years.

Two Die, 30 Hurt In Streetcar, Truck Crash In Chicago

CHICAGO (P)—Two men were killed and at least 30 persons injured Monday in a collision of a streetcar and a truck at 61st Street and Western avenue on the South Side.

A passenger, Arthur Duffy, age unknown, died of injuries in Southtown Hospital shortly after the accident.

James K. Ziegler, 46, a Chicago Transit Authority bus driver who was passenger on the CTA streetcar, was killed in the accident.

Officials at Southtown Hospital said 25 to 30 persons injured in the collision were being treated there. Five others injured were taken to Holy Cross Hospital.

Fifty passengers were on the streetcar.

James Ward, 50, a fire department employee, was nearby at the time. He said it appeared that the truck's steering mechanism failed and the truck swerved into the streetcar.

The truck is owned by the Trans American Van Services, Inc., 7540 S. Western Ave.

This is the Scandinavian Airlines System DC-6B, called Royal Viking de Luxe, which will inaugurate regular commercial service between Los Angeles and Copenhagen, Denmark, over the Arctic wastes. It can carry 34 passengers, including sleeping accommodations for 10.

Launch Air Service Across Top Of World

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (P)—A Scandinavian Airlines—SAS—Super-Cloudmaster carrying three prime ministers and a Danish prince took off into the chilly darkness Monday night for Los Angeles, launching the first east-to-west commercial passenger service across the top of the world.

At the same time, another SAS Super-Cloudmaster, which had left Los Angeles about 11 hours earlier, was winging its way to Copenhagen with a group of important civic officials, movie stars, and newsmen to initiate the west-to-east flights.

The two were scheduled to pass each other about 100 miles east of Angmagssalik, Greenland, at 9:30 p.m. EST.

Aboard the airliner Heige Viking when it took off from here at 2:10 p.m. EST were Prince Axel of Denmark, Prime Minister Hans Hedtoft of Denmark, Oscar Torp of Norway, and Tage Erlander of Sweden, SAS Chairman Per M. Hansson, SAS President Per A. Norlin, and newsmen.

Lt. Col. Bernt Balchen, Norwegian-born American citizen who participated in U. S. Adm. Richard E. Byrd's historical 1929 flight to the South Pole, said the first commercial flight of 5,600 miles from Europe to Southern California should be considered the "gateway to the world." He predicted direct flights from Scandinavia to the Far East across the North Pole in the near future.

While the new Europe-U. S. flight crosses the Arctic Circle, it is nearly 1,600 miles below the North Pole.

Ervin Injects New Term 'Flyblowing' Into Senate Debate

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Ervin (D-NC) Monday introduced a new term into the McCarthy censure debate.

He said McCarthy was charged with being "guilty of disorderly conduct by flyblowing—that is a strong Anglo-Saxon word, but a very expressive one."

An aide explained that "flyblowing" was a word often used in the South, and that it means "to smear."

The dictionary definition sounds even worse. It says a flyblow is an egg or larvae deposited by a blowfly. A blowfly is any of various species of flies that deposit their eggs or maggots on food or in wounds of living creatures.

Hence, the dictionary says, the verb flyblow means to infect, taint or contaminate as if with flyblows.

Try To Prove Bay City Police Bungled Probe Of Murder

CLEVELAND (P)—A suburban police chief, a big, quiet, ham-fisted man, admitted Monday he was at sea when confronted with the murder of Marilyn Sheppard. He had to ask city detectives for help.

"Our experience was very little along those lines," Bay Village Police Chief John P. Eaton, 60, testified at the first degree murder trial of Dr. Samuel Sheppard, accused of slaying his wife, Eaton has headed the seven man police force for 13 years.

Eaton sought aid from the first two Cleveland detectives to arrive on the murder scene last July 4. The pair, Patrick Gareau and Robert T. Schotzke, were the first men.

Eaton twisted his big hands nervously in his lap, and occasionally rubbed his face. But he kept his voice low and even, and gave no outward sign that the questioning upset him.

Sen. Ervin Suggests McCarthy Expulsion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The hotly debated Irving Peress case churned up a couple of upheavals in the McCarthy censure row Monday—followed by a Democratic statement that Sen. McCarthy ought to be thrown out of the Senate.

The expulsion suggestion was made by Sen. Ervin (D-NC) who accused McCarthy of making "foul and fantastic charges" against the committee that recommended he be censured. But Ervin said he would not formally move that McCarthy be ousted.

Ervin spoke out on the Senate floor after Sen. Case (R-SD), a fellow member of the six-man committee that recommended censure of the Wisconsin Republican, announced he will switch sides and vote against rebuking McCarthy on one of two pending charges.

Case said new evidence supplied by Secretary of the Army Stevens convinces him McCarthy should not be censured for alleged abusive treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when Zwicker testified on the Army's handling of the Peress case.

The South Dakota senator said it is now evident that high Army officials "let Peress slip out of their grasp," and gave him an honorable discharge instead of a court martial, even after a court-martial demand from McCarthy was delivered to the "responsible Army staff."

In the wake of Case's announcement, Ervin took the floor and said he came to the Senate opposed to expelling McCarthy, or stripping him of his committee chairmanships, but he declared:

"I'm willing to admit I have changed my mind in both particulars."

Ervin, who succeeded the late Sen. Hoey (D-NC) last June, added, however, he does not intend to propose expulsion of McCarthy during the present debate which is on a recommendation by Ervin, Case and four other senators that McCarthy be censured on two counts of unbecoming and contemptuous conduct.

The chairman of the censure committee, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), sought meanwhile to pull the rug from under McCarthy's "who promoted Peress?" campaign. Watkins said McCarthy himself can readily dig out the answer on the basis of information already supplied by the Army.

Denying this, McCarthy declared the Pentagon is still shielding "the secret master" who promoted Peress—a New York dentist who had refused to say whether he was a Communist—and then rushed through the discharge which made a court-martial impossible.

McCarthy and Watkins clashed often and heatedly at a hearing called by McCarthy, who still heads the Senate Investigations (Continued on Page Seven)

A FIRM FRIEND

Nine years ago few Americans would have imagined that today one of the great U. S. universities would be honoring the head of the German nation.

But the once-hated enemy has now become our ally—against a new and perhaps deadlier enemy. And Chancellor Adenauer, the German leader just honored at Columbia University, has proved one of this country's firmest friends.

Adenauer seems destined to go down in history as one of the real stalwarts of the postwar era. He has played a big role in leading his country, divided though it is between East and West, along the road to economic recovery. He has correctly measured the Soviet peril, and boldly sought to align the German people with the free forces of the West.

In pursuit of this goal he has made himself one of the staunchest advocates of European political and economic unity. And to achieve it he has been willing many times to keep a tight reign on resurging national aspirations in Germany.

The most recent example was at Paris, where in the interest of agreement on a pact bringing sovereignty to Germany and authorizing German armed forces under NATO command, Adenauer accepted a settlement on the disputed Saar region which seems more favorable to France than to his country.

No one would pretend Adenauer has forgotten he is a German, or that he is not acting in what he conceives to be the best interests of Germany. But it is fortunate for us and all the West that he sees those interests as most closely linked with our fortunes, rather than with the hostile Communist world.

It is fortunate, too, that Adenauer is sufficiently adroit politically to maintain his position of leadership within Germany. That task often has been exceedingly difficult, but the aged German has been equal to it.

Adenauer's remarkable personal performance, especially in its recent phases, has the effect of transferring the spotlight once again to France, the reluctant helper.

Viewing the Paris pact from this side of the Atlantic, one would expect the Saar provisions to promise improvement in Franco-German relations. Indeed, the tenor of the entire agreement is such as to suggest an easing of ancient tensions.

The French are under pressure like they have never known before. With so many of their alibis for delay now stripped away, they know the finger will point accusingly at them if they should fail to ratify the Paris decisions.

But even if they do ratify, it may still be accurate to say that, ironically, a German, building from the bitter ashes of a dictator's defeat, has done more to promote the safety of the free world than any liberty-loving Frenchman.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even if Senate Republicans work out a compromise to save Sen. McCarthy from censure — and that may not be possible — he will probably continue raking the Eisenhower administration for Communists.

He has already spent four profitable years, from the standpoint of his personal emolument, digging into and at officials and employees of the executive branch of the government.

He did it for two years while the Democrats ran that branch without losing stride, he continued it the next two years while President Eisenhower controlled it, and Eisenhower will boss it another two years.

McCarthy has said, win or lose on censure, he will go on with his anti-Communist campaign. So, judging from the direction his sessions took in the past, the Eisenhower administration seems his logical hunting ground.

Besides, the executive branch of the government has an immensely greater number of employees than either the legislative or judicial branches and therefore offers a wider field.

Yet, no Republican senator who votes to censure McCarthy can ignore the political implications.

Censure would be an outgrowth of a series of events put in motion earlier this year when the Eisenhower administration took a stand against the investigation—or the kind of investigation—McCarthy was making of the Army.

Since the Republicans lost the last election, they may need both party harmony and every vote they can get in the next voting in 1956, a presidential election year.

McCarthy might not feel obligated at all but, rather, consider it an admission of weakness if, for the sake of party harmony, Republican senators were inclined to spare him censure and found a way to do it.

He might, indeed, look upon escape from censure as proof of his necessity to the party and an addition to his power within it.

He did not show any great concern for harmony last year when he tore into the Eisenhower administration's handling of Communists and communists. There's no reason to believe he'd show any more concern in the future, censure or no censure.

His position has always been that he doesn't play politics in looking for Communists.

Nevertheless, he has a large following — how large and how effective is not known. It did not appear decisive in two states — Illinois and New Jersey — where he most obviously tried to make his influence felt in the last election.

In a tight 1956 election, the McCarthy following, if angered by the treatment given him during the Eisenhower administration, could conceivably mean the difference between victory and defeat for the Republican party.

But how? That's not an easy one. McCarthy's admirers could hardly vote Democratic since he has targeted, calling them the "party of treason." If they stayed home from the polls, they'd be helping the Democrats.

They could form a third party, but no one is seriously suggesting that now. McCarthy and his friends, provided he was still a force and had a following, could probably make their weight felt most at the Republican National Convention in 1956 if Eisenhower didn't run again.

Eisenhower's withdrawal would leave a party vacuum into which the McCarthy team could move as a force, if not the dominant force, in picking the party candidate and shaping the party platform.

Instead of being on the defensive when the Senate censure debate began, McCarthy went on the attack and stayed there. To suggestions he might get off the hook by apologizing for his conduct he said he would apologize for nothing.

THEIR OWN BRAND

HOLBROOK, Ariz. (AP)—Guests at an open house held by a cafe brought their cattle branding irons with them. During the party the ranchers—at the request of the cafe owners—branded the woodwork in the dining room.

LESS HORSE POWER

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The state agriculture department reports that the number of horses in Connecticut has dropped to 5,000 from the 17,000 counted 10 years ago. In the same period, the poultry population jumped from 2,787,000 to 4,461,000.

Scientists are puzzled by the fact that the U. S. infant mortality rate is one of the lowest in the world but that among people above the age of 10, U. S. death rates are higher than those in a number of other countries.

Boyle's Column

By RELMAN MORIN
(for HAL BOYLE)

NEW YORK (AP)—I see by the papers where a British scientist has been making comparative studies of men and women, and now has arrived at a conclusion.

He finds the ladies superior in most ways.

They live longer, he says, and have more vitality. They are less sensitive to cold. They have more courage and a greater emotional range. Linked with this latter point, the professor said, women are more dangerous than men when aroused, and more prone to mayhem, battery and assault.

Well, it is good to have all these facts certified to by science itself, although they are not exactly new or worth a flash. Most of us suspected the situation.

However, I was unable to find any comparative data in the areas of intelligence, ingenuity, imagination or creative ability. If the professor's research covered these items, he seems not to have written any findings — possibly for reasons of personal safety.

Could it be that women are deficient in these fields?

For example, there is no great woman composer of music. Off-hand, I can't recall a single name in that art.

Same with painting. Unless you like cows and horses, and therefore are a fan for Rosa Bonheur, the feminine batting average in this field is pretty low.

As for literature, there are some fair-to-middling women writers, but none who can play in the same league with Ernest Hemingway, or any of the other top-flight male writers. In fact, lady authors seldom produce "creative" literature. What they tend to produce is simply idealized reporting.

That is, they write about themselves, their families, themselves, babies, themselves, the other woman, themselves, etc.

But getting back to the professor, it is not so surprising that women live longer.

The answer may lie in the fact that the average housewife doesn't have to exert herself in the pursuit of her daily chores.

She will make it sound like a man-killing job, but this is largely sales-talk. The soap operas, I'm told, are still getting along fine and the "vacuum cleaner audience" runs into the millions. Of course, afternoon bridge can be very wearing sometimes. But when a woman sighs, "What a day I've had," it is usually designed to soften up papa for cold cuts and canned beans.

Yes, sir, professor, it's a wonder women don't live forever.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gordon MacRae, entering the Sunday night TV sweepstakes, is challenging the front-runner, "Toots of the Town."

The solid singer from East Orange, N. J., is the new eneece and soloist on The Comedy Hour, which has been battling the Ed Sullivan show for five seasons. Both shows occupy the prime spot on television — the Sunday mid-evening hour when most folks are gathered around their sets. Neither show has yet given quarter.

Last year, The Comedy Hour had the best of it, as far as audience ratings are concerned. This season "Toots" has triumphed, racking up the highest total for any show in October, according to one poll. Of course, there are many differing polls, but the TV industry generally allows Sullivan the edge so far this season.

After a few weeks of mishap, offering, The Comedy Hour is bringing up its big guns. MacRae's slate of guests for Sunday night includes Dorothy Kirsten, Sammy Davis Jr., Larry Storch and Gene Sheldon. Next month Martin and Lewis take over for the first of their five shows.

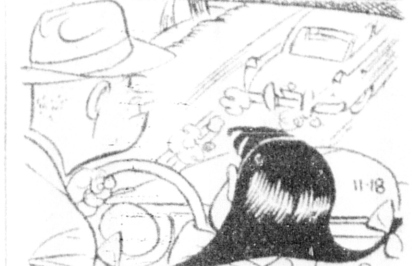

MacRae will do about 17 of the season's shows (Max Liebman "spectaculars" take the time spot every four weeks). Since the singer will be the only continuing member of the cast, he will bear the brunt of The Comedy Hour's rise or fall in the ratings.

"It doesn't worry me," he said. "All I can do is the best I can. I can act all right. I can sing and I look pretty good. We'll just try to put on a better show."

MacRae got his seasoning in TV as a punch hitter. He took over the shows of Jackie Gleason, Eddie Fisher and his present rival, Ed Sullivan, during illnesses or vacations of those stars. He once pulled a show based on The Railroad Hour operetta he did for several years on radio.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Here is how the Communist, East German radio commentator Karl Heinz Stuehler analyzed the efforts of the Republicans to win the U. S. election:

"Some candidates resorted to the craziest means to attract the voters," said the Red broadcaster. "They arranged wrestling matches with crocodiles. George Bender, who was running in Ohio, had a bomb placed in his car. Vice President Nixon arranged for an anonymous telephone call which informed him that his lunch was poisoned."

"But the man who took the greatest trouble was Mr. Eisenhower himself. His election stunt was Adenauer, (Dr. Konrad Adenauer, Chancellor of West Germany.) Eisenhower sent for him the last week before the election."

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer carried out the scheduled events on the last day of his Washington visit with great difficulty. The death in Germany of Dr. Hermann Ehlers, president of Germany's lower house of parliament and most prominently mentioned as Dr. Adenauer's successor, was a real blow to the venerable but still vigorous chancellor. Dr. Adenauer is 79. Dr. Ehlers was 50.

"Why couldn't it have been 12?" the chancellor asked his Washington friends, in a perfect tribute. "One of The more popular members of the Liberal Party William C. Tubman's official party was visiting the United States."

At a meeting with U. S. Public Health Service officials in Washington, D. C., he said:

"That, perhaps, is something less than a national tragedy," Mr. Fairless continued, "but what worries me is the fact that with taxes as they may well be tomorrow, the poor girl is going to have to live on love. And Hazel (Mrs. Fairless) assures me that it simply can't be done."

"I have been in public service practically all my life," explains Mr. Murphy. "For the last nine years I was on the night shift of the New York City Police Department. That meant my salary was open for general inspection. Every time my wife bought a new fur coat or I filled up my tank with gasoline, someone would note it down. Then at the end of the year, if these figures came anywhere near what I made, I was accused of absconding public funds."

"I was living in a glass ball," says Murphy with a smile. "So I'd rather not give away my salary for a while."

Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corp., says he finds the word "taxes" rather distasteful.

"Maybe you heard the complaint which was voiced not long ago by a leading lady of the New York stage," Fairless told the Charleston, W. Va., Chamber of Commerce the other day. "She said that with taxes the way they are today, a girl might as well marry for love."

"That, perhaps, is something less than a national tragedy," Mr. Fairless continued, "but what worries me is the fact that with taxes as they may well be tomorrow, the poor girl is going to have to live on love. And Hazel (Mrs. Fairless) assures me that it simply can't be done."

New Car of the comic-book industry, Judge Charles P. Murphy, is not amused by his work. "After going over comic books for eight or ten hours a day, I don't find them very funny," he says.

But he admits the job has one advantage. His salary is no longer open for everyone to scrutinize.

"I have been in public service practically all my life," explains Mr. Murphy. "For the last nine years I was on the night shift of the New York City Police Department. That meant my salary was open for general inspection. Every time my wife bought a new fur coat or I filled up my tank with gasoline, someone would note it down. Then at the end of the year, if these figures came anywhere near what I made, I was accused of absconding public funds."

"I was living in a glass ball," says Murphy with a smile. "So I'd rather not give away my salary for a while."

Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corp., says he finds the word "taxes" rather distasteful.

"Maybe you heard the complaint which was voiced not long ago by a leading lady of the New York stage," Fairless told the Charleston, W. Va., Chamber of Commerce the other day. "She said that with taxes the way they are today, a girl might as well marry for love."

"That, perhaps, is something less than a national tragedy," Mr. Fairless continued, "but what worries me is the fact that with taxes as they may well be tomorrow, the poor girl is going to have to live on love. And Hazel (Mrs. Fairless) assures me that it simply can't be done."

Most People Can Drink Coffee Without Harm

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

"Can any harm come from a lot of coffee drinking?" writes Mrs. C. "I do not drink coffee between meals but take three cups with each meal and one at retiring."

If my arithmetic is correct this adds up to 10 cups a day. Coffee contains an active drug known as caffeine and 10 cups a day of reasonably strong brew coffee would mean that quite a lot of caffeine had been taken into the system. Whether this is too much for Mrs. C. is hard to tell since apparently some people can tolerate large amounts of caffeine better than others; indeed the ability to get by with this amount of coffee often varies from one time of life to another.

CAFFEINE AS A drug has certain well-known actions. It affects particularly the heart, the blood vessels and the nervous system. Caffeine is sometimes employed by physicians to produce particular effects on these organs or systems. In view of this fact it seems somewhat strange that so many people can take so much coffee without producing more changes than is usually the case.

Coffee as ordinarily consumed acts as a mild stimulant. It increases the physical and mental energy and makes a person feel less tired. Perhaps other ingredients of coffee aid in this comforting effect—the heat, for example—but it is the caffeine which doubtless makes coffee drinkable so particularly pleasurable.

SOME PEOPLE, especially those who live outdoor lives, seem to be able to drink almost unlimited amounts of coffee without noticing it. Others, especially those of a "nervous" temperament, find that coffee gives them headaches, digestive disturbances, interferes with the sleep or brings other unpleasant symptoms. Such things must be considered as evidence of chronic poisoning. Indeed, if they stop coffee altogether the symptoms may get worse for a time and this is a sure sign that the coffee isn't doing them any good.

ALL OF THIS adds up to the fact that most of us can drink a reasonable amount of coffee without harm—except to the pocketbook. It makes us feel better for a while and often serves as a social occasion. But some people are more sensitive to caffeine than others.

Those who tolerate coffee poorly should reduce the amounts drunk or should use one of the substitutes containing little or no caffeine.

First Rule on Cauliflower Is To Avoid Overcooking

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Cauliflower is the belle of fall and winter vegetables. So treat it gracefully. The first rule is to avoid overcooking.

From the New Hampshire Extension Service comes this recipe. It would be perfect with the Thanksgiving turkey.

Escalloped Cauliflower. One medium-size cauliflower, 1 cup sharp grated cheese (the sharper the better), 1 cup medium white sauce, 1 cup bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Divide cauliflower into small florets and cook in lightly salted water until just tender. Drain the cauliflower and place in a casserole. Stir grated cheese into the white sauce and pour this mixture over the cauliflower. Sprinkle crumbs over top and bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) for 20 minutes, or until the crumbs are brown.

Cauliflower is the base of this unusually rich and pleasing luncheon soup.

Cream of Fresh Cauliflower and Mushroom Soup (Yield: 4 servings)

One cup cooked fresh cauliflower, 1 1/2 cups cooked tender cauliflower stems (ribs of leaves), 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms, 1 cup diced fresh onions, 3 tablespoons margarine or butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper, 2 bouillon cubes, 2 cups fresh cauliflower broth, 1 cup heavy cream.

Cut cauliflower into 1-inch

Raw Cauliflower Vegetable Salad

Rub salad bowl with a peeled cut clove of garlic. Break up crisp salad greens, any combination and amounts desired, along with the shredded fresh crisp cauliflower leaves and the tender ribs. Add raw cauliflower flowers, white or purple onion rings, sliced tomatoes and raw sliced celery. Toss, just before serving, with tasty French dressing.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Tomato juice, pan-broiled top round steak, parsley potatoes, escalloped cauliflower, canned peas, enriched bread, butter or margarine, ginger pears, cup cakes, coffee, tea, milk.

SO THEY SAY

One third of what fruit and vegetable farmers produce is wasted in one way or another before it reaches the consumer's table.

I don't believe anyone who studies the facts with an open mind can vote to censure you for saying what you honestly think.

—Sen. Joseph McCarthy

I would not be surprised if the "diplomatic" relations between the United States and the Soviet Union were broken off at any time by either side.

—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.)

Manners Make Friends

Latin Girl Disillusioned By Duties of U. S. Housewife

Well, what do you know? A gal from another country has come to America, looked over us American women and is ready to go back home without telling us what an easy life we have or that we don't fully appreciate our so-wonderful American men.

This visitor came over from Italy all set to marry an American who had been courting her via mail for 18 months.

But she quickly changed her mind about wanting to become an American housewife once she found out we aren't the spoiled darlings we have the reputation for being. In her own words: "It was rather shocking to me to find out the average American housewife has to keep up her own house—even does the cooking."

Every time some babe from across the ocean pays America a brief visit and sounds off about how spoiled American women are, how extravagant, and how little we know about keeping a man happy, our men get smug and say, "Boy, is she ever right!"

FILE THIS FOR FUTURE USE

So here is a suggestion: Just file this little item about Vanna Scussell, 26, of Milan, Italy, who came to America to become an American wife and changed her mind when she discovered that the average American wife doesn't have "as rosy a time" as she had "been led to believe."

The next time your husband starts reading you what some visiting foreigner has to say about spoiled American women who don't appreciate a good thing when they have it—drag out this clipping and read it right back at him.

You might even point out that Miss Scussell got disillusioned without even waiting around long enough to find out that on top of doing their own housework and cooking, a big percentage of American wives also help bring home the spaghetti and meat balls.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Western diplomats have always held in the back of their minds the possibility that Soviet Russia, faced with rising Allied strength which threatened to cut off for good her hopes for expansion, might seek to break out by force before the doors were completely barred.

In the last two or three years, Western rearmament having reached the stage where the possibility of a successful war by anyone has become extremely remote, there has been a tendency to discount this idea and to assume that Russia would assess the remaining possibilities as not worth the risk. There has even been some hope, though this has been more prevalent in Europe than in the United States, that Russia would begin to revamp her political as well as her military viewpoint to meet this changing condition, and that points of tension might be negotiated, leading to a leveling off of the arms race.

That has been one reason behind the concerted effort to mobilize the full strength of Europe, including Germany, despite the nervousness among many Europeans and some Americans over rearming Germany. This nervousness is openly expressed in the latest Soviet note. The Russians have now quit operating through a smokescreen and gotten down to the bedrock of their policy, which is to block Europe-wide mobilization. They even appear to be ready to make some concessions—whether or not they intend to abide by them—to attain this end.

The Allies think they will have to make more concessions, and be forced to abide by at least some of them, if the negotiations come after, and not before, ratification of the Western European Union.

Aside from the repeated assertions that formation of opposing blocs leads to war, the Soviet note contains one very definite threat. It says that if the West goes ahead with the Western European Union, "it would be entirely natural" for the Soviet bloc to adopt new measures to insure security.

No inkling is given of what these measures might be. Eastern European armies already are tightly integrated with Russia's. New political maneuvers among them might give a more solid appearance, but could hardly affect the facts. Red strength in Austria and Germany might be increased, but it already is pretty solid. Russia might formally extend her borders to incorporate the territory she controls.

Would Russia, seeing time running out, sidetrack her program for conquest of Asia by infiltration to make some break in Europe before West Germany could be rearmed? It is hardly conceivable. Yet it is something for which the Allies will have to be constantly alert.

Chums Celebrate Lukemia Victim's Birthday Early

ROUND LAKE, Ill. (AP)—Eighteen neighborhood chums helped a leukemia victim playmate celebrate her sixth birthday Sunday.

Hazel-eyed Cynthia Bawiec won't be six until Dec. 26 but the advance celebration was staged because doctors fear she will die before then.

Cynthia joined in the merriment but was observed wiping away a tear or two. Her arm still hurts from a blood transfusion given Friday in a nearby Waukegan hospital.

Well-wishers sent along some 300 birthday cards to the freckle-faced youngster.

Cheng, Chinese Laundryman, Shut Shop 5 Weeks Ago

CHICAGO (AP)—Harry Cheng locked up his laundry shop in suburban Elmwood Park five weeks ago, leaving some of his customers in a dilemma.

Trouble was that 115 bundles of laundry lay undelivered on the shop shelves. Some contained the winter wardrobes of the suburbanites.

Village officials prodded by uneasy customers, opened the shop Sunday. A Chinese interpreter translated the tags from Cantonese characters. Village Manager Howard Olson supervised the laundry bundle distribution. The money collected for the laundry is being held for Cheng.

Police can't account for Cheng's disappearance.

Oldest Civil War Vet Celebrates 112th Birthday

FRANKLIN, Tex. (AP)—Walter W. Williams, oldest of four surviving Civil War Veterans, celebrated his 112th birthday Sunday and said he looks forward to more years in spite of failing eyesight and hearing.

The wizened little man who once foraged for Hood's Texas Brigade of the Confederate Army smiled enjoyment at the party in his home and said he was glad to be starting his 113th year.

"My grandfather — in Mississippi — lived to be 119," he said. "And I might go on and top him."

Two birthday cakes, one topped with a Confederate flag, flanked the wheel chair to which he is confined. His 12 living children and others of his four generations of descendants were on hand.

Williams lives quietly with his 80-year-old wife Ella and son Gene on his 20-acre farm near here.

It's fun surprising relatives with how long he lives, Williams said. "They come by every few days to see me dead," he joked. "But I don't die."

Man Falls Dead: Seized At Scene Of Burglary

CHICAGO (AP)—One of two men seized by police at a burglary scene fell dead of a heart seizure early today. The other escaped while officers sought to aid the stricken man.

The dead man was identified as Edwin J. Cusack, 58, of 36 W. 164th St., Calumet City, Ill.

Policemen Martin Patrick and Lee Gerick of Park Forest said Cusack and a companion were captured in a short chase after they were spotted loading liquor and cigarettes into an automobile from the Ken Clark Delicatessen and Liquor Store in Richton Park.

Richton Park, in extreme southern Cook County, is regularly patrolled by the Park Forest police.

Patrick said that Cusack pleaded "Give me a break. I'm an ex-con." A moment later he collapsed. While the officers sought to revive him with an inhalator from their patrol car, the second man escaped.

Patrick said the rear door of the store had been forced open. In an automobile nearby, police found about $1,000 worth of liquor and other merchandise, a crowbar and a jimmy.

Cusack was pronounced dead at St. Francis Hospital, Chicago Heights.

Union Central Life Insurance Co. said the cardinal's father would be handed a check for several thousand dollars representing full payment on the policy.

Heifer That Acted Like Mole Is Now Back On The Farm

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Jewel, the heifer that behaved like a mole, is back on farmer Ernest Florin's farm today after two days in a sewer.

A 5-foot-2, 130-pound construction worker maneuvered her but after bigger men had failed. Jewel fell down a manhole into the sewer main, only an inch higher than she, on Friday. She had nudged aside several rescuers and retreated farther into the 600-foot line, which lies 4 to 20 feet below the surface.

Sunday construction worker Eddie Seaton got into the sewer through a second manhole and prodded her toward the manhole she had entered. When she balked, he splashed her face with water from a pail he had carried down with him.

At the manhole, the 600-pound heifer, held by wooden barricades, was hoisted out on an improvised sling attached to a crane truck.

Bullet Fired 31 Years Ago May Have Caused Death

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Physicians believe the death of Alvin G. Petri, 58, a former sheriff's deputy, may have been caused indirectly by a bullet fired in a gun battle 31 years ago.

Petri, of Belleville, Ill., a former St. Clair County deputy, died here Friday night after an operation for removal of the bullet fragment in his neck.

An infection in the blood stream was caused by the old bullet wound doctors said. Petri was wounded in a 1923 gun battle with Walter C. Cochran, who killed his wife and mother-in-law in Belleville and hid in his home. Cochran died in 1940 in prison.

Japanese Objects To Reds 'Outrage Of Hens' Rights

TOKYO (AP)—What a Japanese politician saw on a Soviet collective chicken farm near Moscow last summer has convinced him he says that "Communists" will stop at nothing to gain their ends."

Isamu Inaizumi, right-wing Socialist, writes in a new-paper article he saw a food pipe thrust into a chicken's stomach.

"An operator steps on a pedal and one portion of food is sent into the stomach of the bird. Suddenly the stomach swells up and the hen screams. This is indeed an outrage of chickens' rights, as it were," says Inaizumi.

I asked the woman in charge "Why do you do such a mean thing?" she explained to me: "Our primary objective is not to raise chickens, but to get eggs. We do not care about the will of hens."

"We can never approve of such a way of thinking in Japan, concludes Inaizumi.

Now performance never before possible with regular grade gasoline

New Shell Gasoline—regular grade—contains TCP, Shell-developed additive that stops the greatest cause of power waste

Now motorists who use regular grade fuels can enjoy performance never possible before.

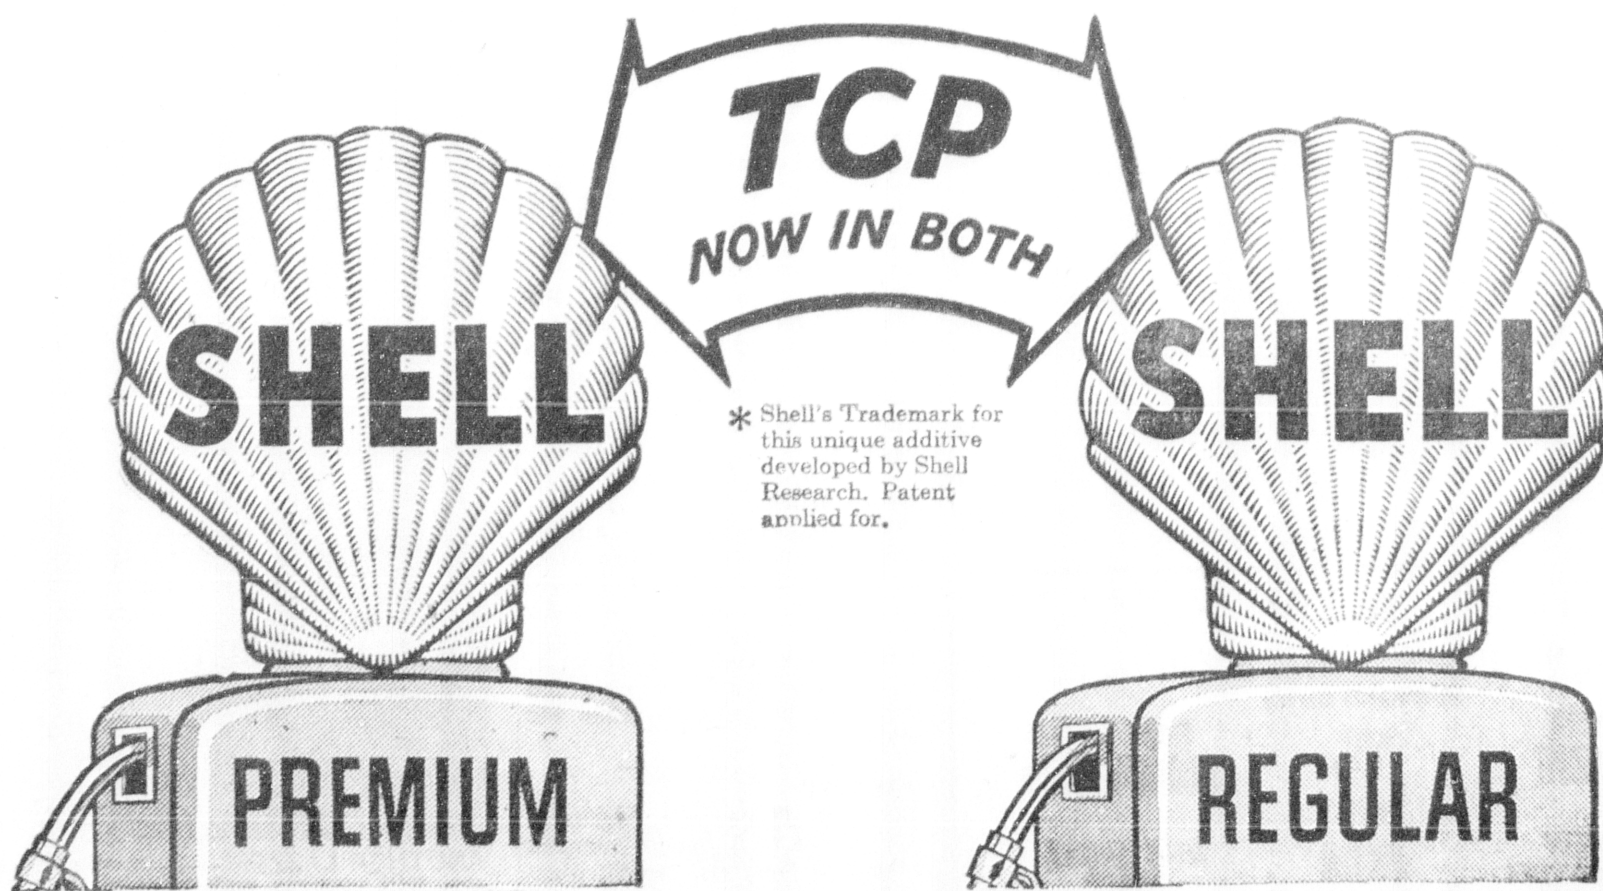

TCP*, first introduced in Shell Premium Gasoline exclusively, has now been blended into Shell Gasoline (regular grade).

As a result, engines designed to operate on regular gasoline can benefit two ways. First, TCP additive "fireproofs" combustion chamber deposits, effectively controlling pre-ignition. Second, by changing the deposits on the spark plugs to nonconductors of electricity, TCP additive stops misfiring. Each spark plug fires as it should, preventing waste of fuel.

By correcting these engine troubles, Shell Gasoline with TCP gives an increase in acceleration, in smoothness of engine operation and in mileage.

Since engine deposits form constantly, continued use of Shell Gasoline, regular grade, with TCP additive is essential to retain its benefits. Now at all Shell Dealers.

* Shell's Trademark for this unique additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

George Terry Cops Cross-Country Championship

NEW YORK (AP)—George Terry, the only runner from Boston University in the event, won the NCAA cross-country championship Monday after waiting for the field to catch up with him less than a mile from the finish.

Terry, who couldn't compete last year as a freshman because he attended Michigan Normal previously, was clocked 24:36.4 for the five-mile grind over Van Cortlandt Park's hills and dales, just 5.3 seconds off the course record.

Manhattan College easily won the team title, scoring 75 points, 35 better than runner-up Pitt, Michigan State, the defending champion, could do no better than 10th with 238 points.

The maze of woods threw Terry off the course and just as he was emerging from the brush leading into home stretch, he looked in all directions and couldn't decide which way to turn to light out for home. So he did the next best thing. He waited for George King of New York University, one of the favorites, to catch him, and followed.

It didn't take Terry more than a few yards to nab King and race across the finish about 40 yards to the goal. King was an easy second ahead of Manhattan's Bob Sharra, who had a narrow margin over Don Townsend of St. John's. Steve Armstrong of Syracuse rounded out the first five.

Golf Magazine Editor Dies

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Robert E. Bob Harlow, energetic editor and publisher of the weekly Golf World magazine, died in his sleep at his home here Monday. He was 65.

About 5 o'clock this morning his wife noted the radio near his bed was turned on and turned it off. Two hours later when she went to summon him for breakfast, he was dead. Dr. Francis E. Owens said death was due to a heart attack.

Harlow was born in Newburyport, Mass.

Survivors include two sons, Harrington Harlow, a New York lawyer; Robert E. Harlow Jr., of Princeton, N. J.; and Mrs. Richard Proskauer of New Hyde Park, N. Y.

We are quite surprised to learn no interior lineman has ever been the recipient of the Heisman Trophy. The annual award is given to the outstanding college football player of the year and during the 19 years it has been awarded, 17 backs and 2 ends have received the trophy.

After this past season it should be even more evident the linemen are an important part of any winning team. The University of Illinois, for example, have practically the same backfield they had last year and the same coaches, yet their team is in no way equal to last year's club. They lost their line, and that tells the story.

We feel it's about time a guard, center or tackle received the Heisman Trophy. Surely in 19 years there has been an interior lineman who was outstanding and played an important role in his team's success. However, it wouldn't have to be success as far as winning is concerned. We can think of one lineman this past season who is playing on a losing club, yet is probably as outstanding a player as we have ever seen and is certainly in line for such an award.

The player we are speaking of is Jim Smid of the University of Illinois. After watching the Illinois captain in action against Wisconsin Saturday we believe he is the best guard we have ever had the pleasure of watching. It's not his fault the Illinois aren't leading the Big Ten. On most of the plays we thought the Badgers had a fifth man in their backfield.

There are probably other outstanding linemen throughout the nation who are in line for such an award. However, Smid stands out in our mind as one of the most logical candidates. We feel it's about time the linemen started getting a little credit. One way to get this started would be for writers to award the Heisman Trophy to this hard charging guard from the U. of I.

The scheduling of the Dec. 1 game is the first of two regular contests to be played between the two clubs and marks the first return of pro football action exclusive of the Philadelphia Warriors' game with the Washington (D. C.) Generals as a preliminary to the Globetrotters' game here last Dec. 6. The same two teams will meet here on Wednesday, Dec. 23.

Easy Ed Macauley, a hometown product and former St. Louis U. Billiken All-American will lead the Boston contingent into action marking a return to his first scene of professional action since 1949-50 when he played a year of pro ball with the St. Louis Bombers who discontinued operations following that season.

Claimed by Boston when the Bombers folded, Macauley, with but one season of pro ball under his belt, proved himself capable of standing up under the rigors of the exhausting pro schedules as well as establishing himself as one of the game's top scorers. Macauley's smooth performance brought about an immediate fondness of him by Boston fans and he is regarded as one of the most popular players ever to wear the Kelly green uniform of the Boston club.

Sharing the limelight with Macauley will be his teammate Bob Cousy, former Holy Cross sensation and truly one of the greatest of the pro ranks. Regarded as a player who can do "everything," Cousy and Macauley rank as one of the most formidable scoring combinations in professional competition.

The Milwaukee roster is composed mostly of veteran pros including such well knowns as Bill "Red" Holzman, playing coach, Chuck Cooper, Bill Calhoun, Bob Harrison, Pep Saul and rookie Bob Pettit, former Louisiana State All-American and the Hawks' No. 1 draft choice. Pettit set four Southeastern Conference scoring records during his collegiate career. Tickets for the game are on sale now at the Arena and at their Arcade Bldg. Mezzanine ticket office downtown.

Pro Basketball Returns Dec. 1 To St. Louis

Professional basketball will make a return to the local sports scene on Wednesday night, Dec. 1 when the Milwaukee Hawks and the Boston Celtics will meet in a National Basketball Association league game at the Arena. A preliminary game will precede the pro game starting at 8 o'clock.

The scheduling of the Dec. 1 game is the first of two regular contests to be played between the two clubs and marks the first return of pro football action exclusive of the Philadelphia Warriors' game with the Washington (D. C.) Generals as a preliminary to the Globetrotters' game here last Dec. 6. The same two teams will meet here on Wednesday, Dec. 23.

Easy Ed Macauley, a hometown product and former St. Louis U. Billiken All-American will lead the Boston contingent into action marking a return to his first scene of professional action since 1949-50 when he played a year of pro ball with the St. Louis Bombers who discontinued operations following that season.

Claimed by Boston when the Bombers folded, Macauley, with but one season of pro ball under his belt, proved himself capable of standing up under the rigors of the exhausting pro schedules as well as establishing himself as one of the game's top scorers. Macauley's smooth performance brought about an immediate fondness of him by Boston fans and he is regarded as one of the most popular players ever to wear the Kelly green uniform of the Boston club.

Sharing the limelight with Macauley will be his teammate Bob Cousy, former Holy Cross sensation and truly one of the greatest of the pro ranks. Regarded as a player who can do "everything," Cousy and Macauley rank as one of the most formidable scoring combinations in professional competition.

The Milwaukee roster is composed mostly of veteran pros including such well knowns as Bill "Red" Holzman, playing coach, Chuck Cooper, Bill Calhoun, Bob Harrison, Pep Saul and rookie Bob Pettit, former Louisiana State All-American and the Hawks' No. 1 draft choice. Pettit set four Southeastern Conference scoring records during his collegiate career. Tickets for the game are on sale now at the Arena and at their Arcade Bldg. Mezzanine ticket office downtown.

FAMILY AFFAIR—It's not uncommon for the wife and kiddies to figure in college football these days. Top are the Ameches, Yvonne and Alan, Wisconsin's All-America fullback, and Brian, one, and Alan Michael, Jr., born in September. Lower left, Len Dawson, Purdue's phenomenal sophomore passer, relaxes with the missus, Jacqueline, and five-months-old daughter, Lisa Anne. Primo Villanueva, UCLA's outstanding fullback, holds son, George Henry, six months, in the saddle as his better half, Orzina, and other son, Primo, Jr., two, watch. (NEA)

Arizona Coach Tells Townfolks To Mind Their Own Business

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Head football Coach Warner Woodson of the University of Arizona Monday told downtown boosters to mind their own business and quit interfering with his team.

He informed the Townsfolk, the booster organization:

"You think you are supporters. You aren't. You are tearing the team down. Give us a chance."

Woodson had been asked at the Townsfolk's weekly luncheon why his team passed on fourth down with the team's only shot at a touchdown. He answered the question, then said:

"You may not like it but you are going to hear the truth. Let's see if you can take it."

"I think you have killed our quarterback here in Tucson. I know you have crucified Blake."

Fullmer, who whipped Jackie La Bua in his first eastern bout last Monday night at the same arena, took the play from the game, steeled German in the very first round and maintained his edge all the way.

The votes, all for Fullmer, were: Referee Pete Scalzo and Jerry Carnegie, 8-1-1 each, Judge Americo Schiavone, 6-4.

The AP card had Fullmer in front, 8-2.

Australia Names Davis Cup Squad

MELBOURNE (AP)—Lewis Hoad, Roy Hattway, Mervyn Rose and Ken Rosewall were named Monday night by the Lawn Tennis Assn. of Australia as the nation's 1954 Davis Cup squad.

The Australians will defend the huge international trophy against either the United States or Sweden late in December. The two challenges play each other the middle of next month for the right to play Australia.

DOURA DIES

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP)—Alfredo Doura of Buenos Aires, died Monday of injuries suffered Sunday while making a practice spin for the coming Mexican road race. Juan Antonio Gatti, co-driver of the machine with Doura in the race, died immediately after the accident.

SMALLEST

Smallest Democratic representation in the U. S. Senate occurred in the 39th Congress, 1865-67, when there were only 10 Democratic members; smallest Republican Congress, 1855-57, when there were only 15 Republicans seated.

SPORTS TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—The Monday morning class of football coaches looked at the Old Professor with some concern. The usually alert old gent had a vacant stare, a yawn, and was empty handed. Just a shell of his former self. Vacuum packed, you might say.

Old Professor—Excuse my appearance, gentlemen. Didn't have time to eat any breakfast, and that accounts for my blank look. Feel like a million, though.

Forest Evashevsky, Iowa—Speaking of million, professor, we must have made a million yards Saturday. We moved the ball better than in any other game this season. Minnesota showed us nothing we didn't expect.

Murray Warmath, Minnesota—That was my happiest moment of the year as it was the game we wanted most of all. That Bob McNamara is a champion. We had our biggest headache with the Iowa quarterback option play, but finally managed to cut their gains from big into little pieces.

Old Professor—The unluckiest cut of all from the Hawkeyes' standpoint, no doubt. Mr. Cherberg, you seem pleased considering your defeat.

John Cherberg, Washington—Well, professor, it was a moral victory—we didn't get any regulars wrecked.

Jegs Hill, Southern California—All I've got to say, professor, is that I'd like to use a 13-man defense against UCLA next Saturday if Red Sanders will let me. Then we might win.

Old Professor—I understand that's illegal, and a rule is a rule, as they say. Mr. Woodard, if you had a dollar and spent 25 cents, what would you have left?

Woody Woodard, Southern Methodist—Three quarters, and that's the length of time our boys played the ball of which they are capable. They weren't awed by Arkansas' great record.

Bowden Wyatt, Arkansas—We were up against a team that really was ready for us. They hurt us before we could get set. When we were behind 21-0 in the fourth quarter plenty of teams would have given up, but not our boy.

Old Professor—Mr. Barclay, when is the best not good?

George Barclay, North Carolina—Well, our best game would not have been much good the way Notre Dame played Saturday, and we played a poor game.

Terry Brennan, Notre Dame—This was the first time we played as a team unit from the start, so we looked pretty good and were able to get organized for that big second quarter.

Old Professor—Nothing like getting organized, is there? Which reminds me, I have a little organizing to do myself, and our time is up. I'll get started. Anyone have a sandwich?

DOUBLE DISASTER

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Bad news seems to come in bunches for Terry Moore, former star outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The bowling alleys owned by Terry and his brother were destroyed by fire. A few days later he was notified that his contract to manage the Philadelphia Phillies was not being renewed for next season.

KLU TO SUCCESS

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ted Kluszewski, major league home run and runs-batted-in king for 1954, led his Redleg teammates in nearly every hitting department. He also set nine all-time Cincinnati records.

Big Klu led the Redlegs in hits with 187, homers (49), runs-batted-in (141), batting average (.326), most total bases (368) and slugging (.642).

Ohio State Slips Ahead Of UCLA In Weekly Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—Ohio State returned to the top of the weekly Associated Press football ranking poll Monday, but by a margin so close that the former leader, UCLA, would be justified in demanding a recount.

When the ballots of 222 sports writers and broadcasters were tallied on the usual point basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc., it was Ohio State by 2,010 points and UCLA 2,003. But the Uclans drew 92 of the 222 first place votes and Ohio's Buckeyes 87.

The recount will be made, of course, after next Saturday's games, when UCLA fights it out with Southern California for the Pacific Coast Conference championship and Ohio State seeks to clinch the Big Ten title at the expense of its old rival Michigan.

UCLA was idle last Saturday, while Ohio State turned in a solid 28-6 victory over Purdue and third place Oklahoma gained ground by walloping Missouri 34-13.

Ohio State was the leader three weeks ago, then UCLA took over after a couple of whopping victories and stayed on top for two weeks.

The leading teams with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses:

1. Ohio State 87 (8-0) 2,010.
2. UCLA 92 (8-0) 2,003.
3. Oklahoma 28 (8-0) 1,761.
4. Notre Dame 2 (6-1) 1,222.
5. Army (7-1) 1,167.
6. Mississippi 7 (8-1) 671.
- 7-8. Navy (6-2) 670.
9. tied with California (8-1) 670.
10. Arkansas 5 (7-1) 533.
11. Minnesota (7-1) 271.
12. Southern Methodist (5-1-1) 270.
13. Michigan (6-2) 244.
14. Maryland (5-2-1) 151.
15. West Virginia (6-1) 101.
16. Virginia Tech (7-0-1) 81.
17. Miami, Fla. (6-1) 71.
18. Wisconsin (6-2) 70.
19. Auburn (5-3) 51.
20. Iowa (5-3) 35.
21. Baylor (6-2) 27.

Denver, Omaha Mentioned As Triple A Cities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), president of baseball's class A Western League, said Monday that directors of the Western clubs have been "contacted" about proposals to shift Denver or Omaha or both to the triple A American Assn.

The two cities are being considered as possible replacements for Kansas City, which moves up to major league baseball next year in the American League.

"No meeting has been set up as yet," Johnson said in an interview.

Ed Doherty, American Assn. president, said his league has filed intentions to negotiate for a Western League city.

Braves Sign Two Scouts

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves Monday announced the signing of two scouts in their farm system.

Sam Allen of Raleigh, N. C., who had held a similar post with the Chicago White Sox, was appointed to handle the Southern section of the nation, and Frank Fahey, former St. Thomas (Minn.) College baseball coach, was named to watch Minnesota and North and South Dakota. Fahey had scouted previously for Cleveland, St. Louis and the Chicago Cubs.

3 OF ILLINOIS FAMILY HURT, ONE KILLED IN FLORIDA

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A 14-year-old girl was in critical condition today from a weekend traffic accident which also injured her parents and killed her older brother.

All members of the family of Edward Warfel, Marion, Ill., were hurt when their car first sideswiped a jeep and collided with an on-coming truck.

James Henry Warfel, 16, was killed instantly. Elizabeth Ann, 14, suffered fractured ribs and other internal injuries. She was in critical condition, hospital attendants said.

Edward Warfel, 39, and his wife, Madge, 41, parents of the children, were under treatment in the hospital here. Warfel suffered a severely fractured pelvis and his wife was less seriously injured.

Highway patrolmen said Warfel's car, after it struck the jeep, careened into the path of the semi-trailer truck. The truck driver, David Ellis, West Palm Beach, Fla., suffered only minor injuries.

IKE PLANS THANKSGIVING WEEKEND OF GOLF

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently is planning a brief Thanksgiving weekend visit to his "Little White House" at the National Golf Club in Augusta, Ga.

There was no official announcement, but indications were the President might leave Washington by plane Nov. 24 and return possibly Nov. 28.

Football Briefs

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's regulars, usually excused from Monday football drills, turned out in force Monday as Coach Terry Brennan opened preparations for Iowa.

Brennan ran his varsity through workouts on defense and also sharpened up a spread formation type of attack that was used for the first time against North Carolina last week.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—"It would be nice if we could do this all week long," Michigan Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said Monday as his Wolverines jogged leisurely around the practice field. "But we can't."

Gerald Smith Pleads Guilty To Arson Charge

PITTSFIELD—Allen Elliott, who was charged with manslaughter by the November Grand Jury, and Gerald Smith, charged with arson, appeared in circuit court Monday morning, for the court's decision on their motions to quash the indictments. Judge A. Clay Williams overruled their motions.

Both were then arraigned for plea. Elliott pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for December 13. Smith entered his plea of guilty asking for probation. The matter was placed in the hands of the probation officer, Hiram McKenna, for investigation and consideration.

Study Juvenile Trouble Causes In Jacksonville

Covering a period of four weeks of work, a group of several citizens interested in juvenile welfare have recently reported the results of a planned investigation on the local juvenile status to Major Henri Servais of the Salvation Army.

The effort was not to probe into delinquency itself as much as an intense search for causes which inevitably result in this unfortunate condition so generally prevalent today.

In the course of the investigation children from 48 different homes, who were unaware of the purpose of the informal interviews, were contacted and after the results were compiled it was revealed that the situation may be more grave than originally anticipated, according to Major Servais.

This contact embraced 191 children under 16 years, and of these 117 admitted that they could "do as they pleased" as far as staying out late was concerned, 102 spent less than half an hour on their home work per day, 22 did no home work at all, 31 girls claimed to have a "steady" boy friend, and only one girl stated that her parents objected. The other 30 insisted that the parents "just didn't care."

Sixty-eight out of the total number said they helped with the housework, 46 admitted smoking cigarettes "on the sly" while eight did so with the knowledge of their parents. Seven claimed that some time or other they had been under the influence of liquor. Twenty-nine smaller children said they carried toy guns and re-enacted stories they saw in comic books, and played the "hero" by shooting the crooks.

A total of 101 attended church regularly, 22 occasionally, and 68 only on Christmas or Easter. Ninety-six said they liked their school work, while 16 said they would prefer to quit school now.

An analysis of the situation emphasizes the grave need for a revival in parental interest. Major Servais declared. Thirty-one said that a midweek afternoon off from school would be beneficial as well as desirable. The summary also points to laxity of supervision in recreation and amusement places. Major Servais said. This was admitted by 59 of the youngsters, the report showed.

A very impressive and encouraging result of the research is the fact that 179 of the youngsters expressed a sincere desire to become good citizens, and are willing to be led. This, Major Servais said, indicates that our young people possess the stuff it takes to keep our civilization alive, providing we, their superiors, are willing to prove by our action that we are sufficiently interested to guide them in ways of decency.

Police Capture Man In Service Station

A 24 year old deaf man was captured by police at 3:22 o'clock Sunday morning after they surrounded the Mentler service station, East College and Hardin avenues, where officers in a cruise car noticed that a window had been broken on the south side of the building.

Capt. Albert Spreen and members of the night force closed in on the intruder, who they said was in the act of stuffing money in his pocket.

The prisoner gave his name as Truman Helwig, 851 Goltz avenue.

Chief Ike Flynn said the suspect admitted breaking into another service station and a grocery store. An attempt was made early Sunday morning to enter the Spaulding Sporting Goods store on Hardin avenue, where a window was shattered.

A young couple who had been sitting in a parked car in the 100 block of Hardin avenue reported to police that a man "who didn't say a word," threatened them with a gun early Sunday morning. They said he suddenly appeared in the back of their car.

The couple later identified the suspect at the police station as the man who had the gun, according to police.

Helwig was in possession of a .22 caliber pistol at the time of his arrest, the authorities reported. They said the weapon was stolen from the Cities Service station, where a window was broken. The gun of $13 also was missing from the service station.

An additional burglary which may have been related to the arrest of Helwig was reported at the Phalen grocery store on East State street. A window was broken to obtain entrance. A few coins were missing from the cash register.

All members of the night police force joined in the full-scale investigation of the series of burglaries. Helwig was booked for investigation and further questioning.

Helliwell, Taylor Vows Exchanged In Winchester

WINCHESTER—Before the altar banked with baskets of white chrysanthemums, palms and lighted candelabra at the First Christian church in Winchester on Sunday afternoon Miss Geraldine Helliwell became the bride of Richard Taylor. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William Seallock in the presence of a large group of relatives and friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Helliwell and the groom is the grandson of William Taylor.

Preceding the service organ selections were played by Miss Charlotte Sunderland of Murrayville. She accompanied a Miss Dorothy Smith who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

Miss Judy Helliwell was her sister's only attendant. Hal McLaughlin served as best man for the groom, and ushers were John Megginson, Woodson, Howard Hembrough and Gary Myers of Jacksonville.

The bride came down the aisle, marked with lighted tapers and satin bows on the pews on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of ivory Chantilly lace over satin. The waist length full skirt, worn over hoops, featured tiers of pleated nylon tulle and satin over the lace. The tight fitting bodice had long tapered sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and was buttoned down the back with tiny satin buttons. Her nylon tulle fingertip veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and satin. She carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of red roses.

Miss Helliwell's gown was of coral taffeta and net. A short sleeved jacket was worn over the strapless bodice, and the full waist length skirt was of pleated nylon net over taffeta. She wore a halo hat, and long gloves of matching colored velvet, and her shoes were of coral linen. She carried a corsage of white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Helliwell chose an afternoon dress of navy blue tulle with an over all design of broad trim. Her accessories were pink and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the service a reception was held for the wedding guests at the Helliwell home at the edge of Winchester. The bride's table, and other decorations at the home carried out the color scheme of yellow and white.

Mayor Breaks Tie As Council Disagrees On Which Truck To Buy

The mayor's vote was needed as a balance of power to tip the scales on a decision the city council made last night in voting for the purchase of a new truck for the sewer department. Before the mayor cast his vote the score was 4 to 4.

Dissension began to build up when Alderman Allen of the sewer committee reported on the evaluation of bids which were received one week ago.

Allen said the seven bids were close—a difference of only $129.94 in the top and bottom proposals submitted by local companies. As chairman of the sewer committee he recommended the purchase of a GMC 1½ ton truck from the Enloe Motor Co. for $2163.94, with an allowance of $884.10 for the old truck.

Allen said the Enloe bid was not the lowest, but that the committee considered it the best and recommended the purchase of a GMC truck.

Several aldermen inquired the necessity of advertising for bids if the low bid was not recognized. Alderman Kelly said that the council would be setting a precedent difficult to follow if it did not recognize a low bid.

After considerable discussion during which some councilmen invited other councilmen to explain why they prefer one make of automobile over other makes, a motion was introduced by Alderman Allen, seconded by Alderman Baker, that the GMC truck be purchased.

Four Yes, Four No
Lining up for a show-down, the vote as recorded by City Clerk Phillips was:

Yes — Aldermen Allen, Baker, Chanley, and Merriman

No — Aldermen Kelly, Mathews, May and Rowe

With the council deadlocked, Mayor Hoagland added a "Yes" vote, explaining that it has been his policy to sustain a committee report in case of a tie vote.

Repercussions of the Veterans Day observance were heard in the council when Alderman Mathews reported that a number of citizens had complained that their cars were ticketed for overtime parking when they believed it to be a legal holiday. The mayor and other alderman said they had received similar reaction from some who were recipients of police tickets.

Mathews wanted to know if the word "holidays" could be chiseled off the metal plates on the meters. He said such action would eliminate a lot of confusion.

Mayor Quotes Ordinance
Mayor Hoagland said he was aware of the situation last Thursday—also aware of the provisions of the parking meter ordinance which set forth six holidays when parking will be exempt from dropping coins in the meters. These are New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Several councilmen expressed opinion that something should be done to impress the public with the holidays included in the ordinance before the meter plates are changed.

The clerk read a letter from the Caldwell Engineering Co., asking another 30 day extension on the time of completion for the West Morgan-South Fayette street pavement improvement. Officials of the company reported that all of Morgan street is completed and open to traffic, and that rapid progress is being made on Fayette street. It was stated that Fayette street north of College avenue will be opened this week.

On motion of Alderman Merriman, seconded by Alderman Rowe, the council voted a 30 day extension on the completion date.

Vote Change of Zones
A report of a hearing Nov. 9 before the City Plan Commission on the petition of Clifford Farmer et al., to change the zone of several lots on East State street near Johnson street, was read. The commission recommended the changes as requested.

Later in the meeting an ordinance was given first reading to change certain lots in Grierson's second addition from Class H heavy industrial to Class A residential. On proposal of the commission the ordinance also proposed changing one lot from Class H heavy industrial to Class E commercial.

The report of City Treasurer Irma B. Cline was read, showing a balance of $6,942.88 in the general fund of Oct. 30.

Mayor Hoagland announced appointment of Patrolman Wilbur Stafford as chairman of the 30 day traffic safety campaign in this city, in cooperation with a state and nationwide crusade proclaimed by the governor and president. The campaign will lead up to Dec. 15, when officials hope that the entire nation can experience an accident free day.

The stage of Lake Jacksonville was reported as 14 feet, 11 and three-quarters inches under the spillway by Alderman Kelly. He said that represents a three-quarter inch drop from last week.

Kelly said Les Boston, lake custodian, declared "we can't even get a heavy frost out there" (in the lake watershed).

Alderman Allen reported that the state of Illinois will receive bids Nov. 22 for new sewers at the hog farm and dairy barn area, which are expected to relieve unsanitary conditions which have existed along the town brook for a number of months.

A resolution was passed on motions by Aldermen Merriman and Chanley directing payment of consideration to a number of property owners for right-of-way agreements, in connection with the building of the water transmission line from the Illinois river to Jacksonville.

Three students of MacMurray College who are majoring in government, Misses Donna Pohl, Jo VanHorn and Sandra Hill, were observers at the council session.

Study Electrical Drugs To Prevent Blood Clots

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Special electrical drugs are a new prospect for preventing blood clots, the cause of killer heart attacks.

They would strengthen or restore the normal electrical charges of the blood and the blood vessel walls. The aim would be to keep blood components from sticking to the walls, starting clots which later break loose and lodge in the heart or lungs with disastrous effects.

New evidence as to why and how such drugs might work was presented today to the American College of Surgeons by Drs. Philip N. Sawyer, Bernhard Deutch and J. Mayers, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

The inner walls of blood vessels normally have a negative charge. So do blood cells and proteins in the blood. Since they all have the same charge, they repel each other.

But if the vessel wall develops a positive charge, through injury or other cause, it could attract cells and proteins, and this sticking could start clots. This is a theory.

GEN. LINDBERGH REPORTS FOR DUTY
